Bittersweet at Betty's Farm to Offer Art Classes for Teens and Adults with Autism

Lima, OH... The Social Recreation Program (SRP) at Bittersweet at Betty's Farm is offering a three-week Art Module for individuals with autism throughout November. The SRP at Betty's Farm consists of programs and activities that focus on developing life and social skills in a fun, laid-back environment.

The Art Module will provide participants with the opportunity to develop their art skills through three weeks of art classes. Each week, participants will engage in a new art project with all materials provided. The Art Module will be led by Mary Ciminillo and Ben Slechter. In December following the Module, selected projects will be displayed at ArtSpace in Lima (65 Town Square, Lima, OH 45801) and available for purchase with the proceeds going to the artist.

The Art Module will be held at Betty's Farm (4640 Fort Amanda Road, Lima, OH 45805) from 7:00PM to 9:00PM on three consecutive Wednesdays: November 5th, November 12th, and November 19th. The cost for this program is $45 for all three sessions, including materials. Space is limited to the first ten who register. For more information or to register, contact Kristen Kirkpatrick, Community Outreach Specialist at Betty's Farm, at kkirkpatrick@bittersweetfarms.org or 815 295 4596.
