Gardens Team Highlights

As is typical in the fall, this week the Gardens Team spent this week not only preparing veggies for your share, but also preparing for the winter months! Cece (pictured at right, below) has been hard at work preparing our hoop house beds to be planted with winter cover crops, such as clover. Cover crops help to return nutrients to the soil during the off season so the veggies we grow next season will be nutrient-rich!

As always, harvesting and packaging the veggies in your share was a team effort! This week, Gino (pictured on p.1) harvested thyme, Matt harvested tomatoes, Keerston (pictured above) harvested peppers and arranged your floral bouquets, and Tommy harvested eggplant!

Tommy was new to gardening last year, and he developed an interest in tending and harvesting eggplant in particular, so we love to see him continuing to grow his skills in this way! Your Bittersweet CSA purchase is an investment in his vocational development and so many others, and we are so grateful for your support.
